SUMMARY

Charter Communications, Inc., on behalf of its subsidiaries and affiliates (“Charter”) seeks a determination that it faces “effective competition” in its 32 franchise areas in Massachusetts and in Kauai, Hawaii (the “Franchise Areas”). In each of the Franchise Areas, Charter is subject to effective competition under the Local Exchange Carrier (“LEC”) Test from AT&T’s DIRECTV NOW streaming service, which offers customers access to at least 65 channels of live television, cloud DVR services, and—in the majority of areas—additional local broadcast channels.

The LEC Test is satisfied if a LEC affiliate offers a comparable video programming service by any means (other than direct-to-home satellite service) in areas that substantially overlap with the cable system’s franchise area. DIRECTV NOW meets each requirement of the LEC Test. It is a non-satellite video programming service offered by DIRECTV, LLC (“DIRECTV”), an affiliate of AT&T. It is offered throughout the Franchise Areas to any household with an Internet connection, which is available to virtually 100 percent of Charter’s customers in these areas. AT&T has marketed DIRECTV NOW extensively, and residents are well aware of this competing service. Finally, DIRECTV NOW meets the Commission’s definition of a “comparable” video programming service, with at least 12 channels of non-broadcast programming.

Accordingly, Charter requests that the Commission grant the Petition for a Determination of Effective Competition and find that Charter is no longer subject to rate regulation in the Franchise Areas.

PETITION FOR DETERMINATION OF EFFECTIVE COMPETITION

Charter Communications, Inc., on behalf of its subsidiaries and affiliates (“Charter”), pursuant to Sections 76.7, 76.905(b)(4), and 76.907 of the Commission’s rules, hereby petitions the Commission for a determination that Charter’s cable television systems serving the above-captioned communities (unless otherwise noted, individually the “Franchise Area” and collectively the “Franchise Areas”) are subject to effective competition under the Local Exchange Carrier (“LEC”) Test¹ and therefore exempt from any rate regulation imposed pursuant to Section 623 of the Communications Act of 1934 (the “Act”).

The LEC Test is satisfied if a LEC affiliate offers a comparable video programming service by any means (other than direct-to-home satellite service) in areas that substantially overlap with the cable system’s franchise area. As discussed in more detail below, DIRECTV NOW is a service offered by a LEC affiliate that provides subscribers with a comparable video programming service that substantially overlaps Charter’s cable systems in the Franchise Areas.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

In 2015, the Commission established a national presumption of effective competition, but permitted franchising authorities to file revised certifications rebutting that presumption within 90 days of the effective date of the Effective Competition Order.² The Massachusetts Department of Telecommunications and Cable (“MDTC”) filed a revised certification on behalf of 118 Massachusetts municipalities, including 32 served by Charter.³ The Hawaii Department of Commerce and Consumer Affairs (“DCCA”) also filed a revised certification, rebutting the presumption of effective competition in the franchise area of Kauai.⁴ The revised certifications became effective 30 days after filing.⁵ As a result, basic broadcast and cable equipment rates remain subject to regulation in Kauai, Hawaii and in the 118 Massachusetts Franchise Areas, including in the 32 Massachusetts Franchise Areas at issue in this Petition and listed in Appendix A hereto.

Because these municipalities were included in the MDTC’s Form 328, however, they were made subject to rate regulation in 2015. In re Charter Communications Application for Review of Order Granting Charter Communications, on Behalf of its Subsidiaries and Affiliates, Petitions for Determination of Effective Competition in 46 Communities in Massachusetts, New Hampshire, and New York, Memorandum Opinion and Order, 32 FCC Rcd 1814, 1814 ¶ 1 n.3 (MB 2017).

Today, however, Charter faces robust competition, including in Massachusetts and Hawaii, from a variety of sources, including online video programming distributors and virtual multichannel video programming distributors (“MVPDs”).⁶ Consumers are taking advantage of these options. In fact, a quarter of U.S. households do not have cable or satellite service.⁷ Congress and the Commission have recognized that continued cable rate regulation is unnecessary in markets where consumers enjoy the benefits of effective competition.

Among the virtual MVPDs available in Massachusetts and Hawaii is DIRECTV NOW, AT&T’s streaming video service. DIRECTV NOW is available in all 50 states and is an offering separate from AT&T’s DIRECTV satellite service.⁸ AT&T is positioning DIRECTV NOW as a competitor to cable. DIRECTV NOW provides customers with access to at least 65 channels of live television, and includes a cloud DVR service. There is no annual contract.⁹ In most areas, including in Kauai and 23 of the 32 Franchise Areas in Massachusetts, DIRECTV NOW includes local broadcast channels.¹⁰ DIRECTV NOW customers can also purchase premium channels for an additional fee.¹¹ As of June, DIRECTV NOW had a total of 1.81 million subscribers,¹² and its subscriber base is growing. In the second quarter of 2018, alone, the service added 342,000 users, and it is on pace to become the largest virtual pay TV platform by the end of this year.¹³

In enacting the LEC Test, Congress recognized that rate regulation was neither necessary nor appropriate in franchise areas where a cable operator faces competition from a LEC or LEC affiliate offering comparable video programming by any means (other than direct-to-home satellite service). Applying this broad test to today's video marketplace requires the Commission to take account of all the means by which a LEC or LEC affiliate offers video programming. Accordingly, consistent with the plain language and intent of the LEC Test, the Commission should find that the offering of DIRECTV NOW warrants a finding that Charter is subject to effective competition in the Franchise Areas.

DISCUSSION

I. CHARTER IS SUBJECT TO EFFECTIVE COMPETITION FROM DIRECTV NOW IN THE FRANCHISE AREAS.

Pursuant to Section 623(l)(1)(D) of the Act (the "LEC Test"), a cable system is considered subject to effective competition in any franchise area where:

a local exchange carrier or its affiliate (or any multichannel video programming distributor using the facilities of such carrier or its affiliate) offers video programming services directly to subscribers by any means (other than direct-to-home satellite services) in the franchise area of an unaffiliated cable operator which is providing cable service in that franchise area, but only if the video programming

services so offered in that area are comparable to the video programming services provided by the unaffiliated cable operator in that area.¹⁴

As Charter demonstrates below, AT&T's provision of DIRECTV NOW satisfies each of these criteria. DIRECTV NOW is offered by a LEC affiliate, DIRECTV, LLC, throughout the Franchise Areas to any household with access to an Internet connection, which is available to virtually 100 percent of Charter's customers in the Franchise Areas. AT&T has heavily advertised the service, and residents are well aware of its availability. Finally, DIRECTV NOW meets the Commission's definition of a "comparable" video programming service. DIRECTV NOW's most basic package offers its subscribers access to at least 65 channels of content, plus local broadcast channels in the vast majority of areas in the Franchise Areas. The Commission should therefore find that Charter is subject to effective competition in the Franchise Areas under the LEC Test, and grant the Petition.

A. DIRECTV, LLC Is a LEC Affiliate through Its Ownership by AT&T.

To support a finding of effective competition under the LEC Test, a competing video programming service must be offered by a "local exchange carrier" or its "affiliate."¹⁵ DIRECTV NOW is provided by DIRECTV, LLC,¹⁶ a LEC affiliate. Specifically, DIRECTV, LLC is a subsidiary of AT&T Inc. (“AT&T”),¹⁷ which is the parent company of various subsidiaries that provide local exchange service across the country.¹⁸ Under the Act and the Commission’s regulations, a LEC and another entity are affiliated if either “has an attributable interest in the other or if a third party has an attributable interest in both entities,” including where one party has a 10 percent partnership or voting equity interest in the other.¹⁹ Thus, an entity that has an attributable interest in or owns a LEC is considered a LEC affiliate under the Commission’s rules.²⁰ Indeed, the Commission has repeatedly acknowledged that AT&T’s subsidiaries are LECs.²¹ Accordingly, the first LEC Test requirement is satisfied.

¹⁵ Id.; see also 47 C.F.R. § 76.905(b)(4).

B. AT&T Offers DIRECTV NOW in the Franchise Areas.

The LEC Test is satisfied if a LEC affiliate offers comparable video programming service in the Franchise Areas “by any means” other than satellite.²² AT&T, through its provision of DIRECTV NOW, meets this requirement. To demonstrate that an affiliate “offers” service, a petitioner must show that (1) the affiliate is “technically and actually able to provide service” and has “begun actual commercial service” in an area that “substantially overlaps the incumbent cable operator’s service in the franchise area”; (2) that the affiliate “does not face regulatory, technical or other impediments to households taking service”; and (3) that the affiliate “is marketing its service so that potential customers are reasonably aware that they will be able to purchase the service.”²³ AT&T’s offering of DIRECTV NOW meets each of these criteria.

1. AT&T Is Physically Able to Offer and Is Currently Offering DIRECTV NOW in the Franchise Areas.

AT&T is “technically and actually able to provide” DIRECTV NOW to customers in the Franchise Areas.²⁴ DIRECTV NOW is a streaming service, wholly separate from DIRECTV’s direct-to-home satellite service, which provides access to live television, in addition to on-demand products, to any customer with an Internet connection.²⁵ DIRECTV NOW is compatible with a variety of devices that allow customers to stream its programming directly to their televisions, including Amazon Fire TV, Apple TV, Chromecast, Roku, and Samsung Smart TV Models.²⁶ Any customer with one of these devices and an Internet connection can view DIRECTV NOW channels on their television. Because broadband Internet with download speeds of at least 25 megabits per second (“Mbps”) is available to virtually 100 percent of Charter’s customers in the Franchise Areas, AT&T’s offer of DIRECTV NOW substantially overlaps Charter’s cable systems in the Franchise Areas.²⁷ In fact, Charter provides speeds of at least 100 Mbps in all of the Franchise Areas, well in excess of the speed necessary to view DIRECTV NOW.²⁸ Accordingly, DIRECTV NOW's offering substantially overlaps with Charter's cable service.

2. AT&T Does Not Face Any Regulatory, Technical, or Other Impediments to Households Taking DIRECTV NOW.

The fact that broadband is widely available in the Franchise Areas also confirms that AT&T faces no regulatory, technical, or other impediments that would prevent households from taking the DIRECTV NOW service. As DIRECTV NOW's website makes clear, subscribers can watch DIRECTV NOW in all 50 of the United States as well as the District of Columbia.²⁹ While "the LEC Test does not require any particular penetration level,"³⁰ DIRECTV NOW is on pace to become the largest virtual pay TV platform by the end of this year.³¹

The fact that subscribers must have broadband service in order to access DIRECTV NOW is not a "technical impediment" that prevents AT&T from offering DIRECTV NOW to substantially all households in the Franchise Areas. As the Commission has explained, service is deemed "technically available" when the video distributor "is physically able to deliver service to a household wishing to subscribe, with only minimal additional investment by the distributor, if necessary.”³² Thus, the Commission has made clear that “technical impediments” refers to impediments faced by the video distributor in offering service. With broadband available to virtually 100 percent of Charter’s customers in the Franchise Areas, AT&T is physically able to deliver service to any current Charter-serviced household that wishes to subscribe.³³

3. Customers in the Franchise Areas Are Reasonably Aware That They May Purchase DIRECTV NOW.

The LEC Test also requires a showing that consumers are reasonably aware of the competing service. The Media Bureau routinely accepts evidence of a competitors’ marketing materials to satisfy this element of the LEC Test.³⁴ AT&T’s marketing of DIRECTV NOW demonstrates that potential customers are reasonably aware of the service. DIRECTV NOW has received considerable publicity since its debut in 2016.³⁵ AT&T has engaged in several national ³³ Even if the need to purchase broadband limited the penetration of DIRECTV NOW, that is not properly considered an “impediment” for these purposes. The decision of a consumer to purchase broadband or not does not impede AT&T’s ability to offer the service. To conclude otherwise would effectively impose a penetration requirement on the LEC Test, contrary to the statute. See supra n.30.

advertising campaigns for DIRECTV NOW.³⁶ In its first year of service alone, AT&T engaged in high profile television advertising campaigns featuring celebrities Mark Wahlberg and Michael B. Jordan.³⁷ DIRECTV NOW's "Big Streaming" campaign has aired nationally on the "Big Four" broadcast networks as well as cable networks such as CNN, ESPN, and MSNBC, including during such widely-viewed events as the 2017 NBA Finals and the 2017 Stanley Cup Finals. The Wahlberg ad was also shown in Honolulu during the local news.³⁸ DIRECTV NOW has also engaged in a digital advertising campaign, including ads displayed as banners on websites or posts on social media applications.³⁹ Many of these ads feature popular programming available on DIRECTV NOW, including NFL Sunday Ticket and the Starz show "Power."⁴⁰

DIRECTV NOW's website offers access to information regarding channel line-ups, rate plans, and packages, and it allows consumers to search whether additional local channels are available in particular zip codes.⁴¹ AT&T also markets DIRECTV NOW on its own website.⁴² Additionally, any potential consumer can go online, search DIRECTV NOW or other related

C. DIRECTV NOW Is a Video Programming Service That Is “Comparable” to Charter’s Cable Service.

The LEC Test requires that the LEC affiliate offer “video programming service” that is “comparable” to the petitioning cable operator’s service.⁴⁴ To be comparable, a competing service must offer “at least 12 channels of video programming, including at least one channel of non-broadcast service programming.”⁴⁵ The Media Bureau frequently permits parties to satisfy this showing by attaching copies of channel line-ups to their petition.⁴⁶

⁴⁶ See, e.g., In re Cablevision of N.J., LLC Petition for Determination of Effective Competition in the System-Wide Franchise Area in Bergen County, New Jersey, Memorandum Opinion and Order, 30 FCC Rcd 7431, 7432 ¶ 5 (MB 2015) (“Attached to the Petition are copies of channel lineups for Competitor showing that it offers channels of programming far in excess of that required by the Commission’s rules.”); In re Time Warner Cable Inc. Petition for Determination of Effective Competition in Nine Franchise Areas in New Jersey, Memorandum Opinion and Order, 25 FCC

DIRECTV NOW more than meets the Commission’s definition of a “comparable” video programming service. For a monthly fee, DIRECTV NOW customers are able to access dozens of channels of live television and cloud DVR services. As shown by DIRECTV NOW’s channel line-up, even the service’s most basic package offers subscribers a minimum of 65 channels (most of which are non-broadcast channels), as well as additional local broadcast channels and regional sports networks in the vast majority of zip codes contained in the Franchise Areas.⁴⁷ DIRECTV NOW customers can also purchase premium channels for an additional fee.⁴⁸ DIRECTV NOW’s premium packages offer 85, 105, and 125 channels, respectively, including multiple broadcast channels.⁴⁹ Each of these packages far exceeds the minimum 12-channel requirement set forth in the relevant regulations.

II. THE OFFERING OF DIRECTV NOW SATISFIES THE LEC TEST EVEN IN AREAS WHERE AT&T DOES NOT PROVIDE LOCAL EXCHANGE SERVICES.

Neither the Act nor the Commission’s rules limit the applicability of the LEC Test to circumstances where the LEC or LEC affiliate offers video programming over its own or the affiliate’s facilities in markets where the LEC also offers local exchange service. To the contrary, the Act and the rules provide that the LEC Test is satisfied if a LEC affiliate provides comparable video programming service in a franchise area “by any means (other than direct-to-home satellite services).”⁵⁰ The LEC Test does not establish any geographic limitations on its applicability, or on the delivery mechanism used by a LEC affiliate, as long as the elements of the test are otherwise satisfied. Congress expected the LEC Test to apply wherever cable operators faced competition from LEC-affiliated video programming services. A determination that the offering of DIRECTV NOW satisfies the LEC Test therefore comports with the purpose of the statute.

Rcd 5457, 5465 ¶ 26 (MB 2010) (accepting showing where the petition “includes copies of the channel lineups” for the competitor in the relevant areas, “showing that [the competitor’s] service includes many more channels than the numerical minimums we require”).

A. The LEC Test Does Not Require That AT&T Provide LEC Service or Video Services over Its LEC Facilities in the Franchise Areas.

Neither the Act nor the Commission’s rules requires that an AT&T-affiliated LEC offer local exchange service in a Franchise Area in order to satisfy the LEC Test there. Rather, the test simply requires that (1) a LEC “or its affiliate” (2) “offer[] video programming services” (3) “in the franchise area.”⁵¹ This first element of the test is disjunctive—it can be satisfied by a LEC or its affiliate.⁵² Thus, so long as an affiliate of a LEC offers video programming service “in the franchise area,” the statute sets no requirement for where the related LEC itself is located.⁵³ Because it is offered by an affiliate under common ownership with a LEC, DIRECTV NOW satisfies the LEC Test.

Accordingly, when the Media Bureau and Cable Services Bureau have analyzed the LEC Test as applied to an affiliate, their orders have not specifically asked or analyzed whether the LEC

⁵³ Although the Cable Reform Order used the general term “LEC” when discussing the requirement that an entity be present in the franchise area, the Commission expressly clarified in that order that “for the purpose of [the relevant] discussion” that term was used only as shorthand; it was intended to equally refer to “a LEC affiliate or an MVPD using the facilities of a LEC or its affiliate.” Cable Reform Order, 14 FCC Rcd at 5300 ¶ 7 & n.24.

itself is also operating in the area—as a local exchange carrier—because that inquiry is irrelevant under the statutory test.⁵⁴ Although the LEC Test has been satisfied in prior petitions by video programming offered by a LEC over LEC facilities that substantially overlapped those of the petitioning cable operator,⁵⁵ nothing in the statute, rules, or prior Commission decisions requires such a physical presence so long as the competitive video programming service is being offered by a LEC affiliate. The Media Bureau has previously granted petitions in which a LEC affiliate provided digital multichannel multipoint distribution service (“MMDS”)—confirming that an affiliate need not provide services over a LEC’s own facilities to satisfy the LEC Test.⁵⁶

In light of the controlling statutory language, there is no reason to consult the limited legislative history regarding the LEC Test.⁵⁷ But even if the Commission were to do so, the legislative history provides further evidence in support of Charter’s position. Some members of Congress endorsed creating a LEC Test based on the assumption that, unlike smaller market entrants, LECs would pose a “very highly credible competitive threat” to cable companies.⁵⁸ These entities differed from others, they posited, “because of their specific identities, the technology they are capable of deploying,” and “their financial strength and perceived staying power.”⁵⁹ The underlying assumption that LECs and their corporate organizations have financial resources and technological advantages that will allow them to compete with incumbents applies equally to new video programming services offered by a LEC or LEC affiliate—whether those services are offered within the LEC’s local exchange area or outside of that area.

In today’s video distribution marketplace, LECs and their affiliates can provide comparable video programming on a nationwide basis as virtual MVPDs. The Commission itself has recognized AT&T’s role in what it characterized as “the most significant change in the status of competition in the market for the delivery of video services.”⁶⁰ Virtual MVPDs are directly competing with traditional cable providers—and positioning themselves as such.⁶¹ The application of the LEC Test must keep pace with these marketplace developments.⁶² Congress’s

Cir. 2015) (“[S]tatutory scope can and does expand over time to encompass circumstances that did not exist at the date of enactment.”); Cablevision Sys. Corp. v. FCC, 649 F.3d 695, 707 (D.C. Cir. 2011) (expansive statutory language suggests congressional intent to “give the Commission sufficient flexibility ‘to maintain . . . a grip on the dynamic aspects of [video intent, as “repeatedly expressed in the floor debates was that” the LEC Test would apply where “the people will get a choice in how they get their services.”⁶³ Crediting the offering of DIRECTV NOW as satisfying the LEC Test aligns with the statutory purpose.

B. The Statute Does Not Require That AT&T Be an MVPD.

The Commission has not determined whether a provider of an online video service like DIRECTV NOW is an MVPD,⁶⁴ but whether or not the service is an MVPD is irrelevant to the LEC Test. Although the Media Bureau, on occasion, has discussed whether a LEC affiliate meets the definition of an MVPD,⁶⁵ nothing in the statute requires that determination. In fact, the statute’s plain language compels the opposite conclusion. Section 623(l) requires only that a LEC or its affiliate “offer[] video programming services by any means (other than direct-to-home satellite services),” and LEC affiliate AT&T does so.⁶⁶ It is axiomatic that “neither courts nor federal agencies can rewrite a statute’s plain text.”⁶⁷ programming]’ so that it could pursue the statute’s objectives as industry technology evolves” (alterations in original) (quoting United States v. Sw. Cable Co., 392 U.S. 157, 172 (1968))).

⁶³ Cable Reform Order, 14 FCC Rcd at 5302 ¶ 10 (quoting 142 Cong. Rec. S699 (daily ed. Feb. 1, 1996) (statement of Sen. Lott)).

⁶⁵ See, e.g., In re Rifkin & Assocs., Inc., 16 FCC Rcd at 2920-21 ¶ 8 (“[W]e find that Rifkin has provided sufficient evidence demonstrating that BIMS is an MVPD affiliated with a LEC. BellSouth is a LEC as defined by the Communications Act, and BIMS meets the Commission’s definition of MVPD.” (footnote omitted)).

⁶⁶ 47 U.S.C. § 543(l)(1)(D). DIRECTV NOW is not a direct-to-home satellite service, and is distinct from the DIRECTV satellite service. See AT&T, The Revolution is Here, supra n.25 (“Sign up online for DIRECTV NOW . . . [w]ithin minutes, you have the power to stream content over a U.S. Internet connection on a variety of devices. No set-top boxes, satellite dishes, annual contracts or credit checks required.”).

⁶⁷ Landstar Exp. Am., Inc. v. Fed. Maritime Comm’n, 569 F.3d 493, 498 (D.C. Cir. 2009).

The statute makes clear that a LEC affiliate, like DIRECTV, LLC, may offer video programming “by any means.”⁶⁸ The only limitation the statute places on this language is that programming cannot be offered through “direct-to-home satellite services.”⁶⁹ Congress’s specific exclusion of satellite services clearly indicates that video programming offered by any other method must suffice.⁷⁰ AT&T does not offer DIRECTV NOW via satellite; rather, it offers the video programming service to consumers directly over the Internet. Pursuant to the plain language of the statute, Charter need not prove more. Nor, as already explained above, does it matter whether a LEC or its affiliate offers video programming over facilities owned or controlled by the LEC, its affiliate, or otherwise.

Moreover, had Congress intended to limit the LEC Test to affiliates providing video programming services as MVPDs, it knew how to do so. Elsewhere, in the alternate tests for “effective competition” in Sections 543(l)(1)(B) and (C), Congress referred specifically to MVPDs.⁷¹ And, Section 543(l)(1)(D) itself refers expressly to MVPDs when it defines other types of entities that could qualify as competitors under the LEC Test—namely, those who use the facilities of a LEC or its affiliates.⁷² Where, as here, Congress “uses different language in different provisions of the same statute” one “must give effect to those differences.”⁷³ That Congress chose to make section 543(l)(1)(D) applicable to any LEC affiliate that offers “video programming services” demonstrates that it did not intend to confine the LEC Test to those LECs or their affiliates that operate as MVPDs. The Commission should decline to read an MVPD requirement into Section 543(l)(1)(D).

⁷³ Ford v. Mabus, 629 F.3d 198, 206 (D.C. Cir. 2010) (citing Russello v. United States, 464 U.S. 16, 23 (1983)); see also Corley v. United States, 556 U.S. 303, 314 (2009). The FCC’s regulations, which exactly track the LEC Test as codified in the Act, are consistent with this interpretation. Even if they differed, the Commission has acknowledged when interpreting other of the effective competition tests that it “is not in a position to alter the plain language of the statute.” In re Implementation of Sections of the Cable Television Consumer Protection and Competition Act of 1992 Rate Regulation, First Order on Reconsideration, Second Report and Order, and Third Notice of Proposed Rulemaking, 9 FCC Rcd 1164, 1180-81 ¶ 24 (1994).

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, Charter requests that the Media Bureau grant Charter's Petition for a Determination of Effective Competition and find that Charter is therefore no longer subject to any form of rate regulation in the Franchise Areas, effective as of the filing date of this petition.⁷⁴

Undersigned counsel have read the foregoing Petition, and to the best of their knowledge, information and belief formed after reasonable inquiry, it is well grounded in fact and is warranted by existing law or a good faith argument for the extension, modification or reversal of existing law, and is not interposed for any improper purpose.

DirecTV Now Debuts First National Ad

OTT TV service also expands access to TV Everywhere apps from individual programmers

JEFF BAUMGARTNER · JUN 6, 2017

DirecTV Now, AT&T's OTT TV service, said it has added support for TV Everywhere apps for AMC, BBC America, IFC, Sundance and WE. DirecTV Now subs can access those apps using their service credentials.

DirecTV Now has also launched its first national ad for the service, noting that it's part of a "Terms & Conditions" campaign that stars Mark Wahlberg, plus a cameo by Lego Batman. The ad plays up the OTT service's lack of long-term contracts and need for traditional set-top boxes as well as a new promotion that sells DirecTV Now's "Live a Little" 60-plus channel package for $10 per month (after a $25 per month credit) to consumers with qualifying AT&T unlimited wireless plans.

Watch the new ad below:

DirecTV Now's spot arrives soon after competing OTT TV service, Sling TV, introduced a new ad campaign of its own with actor Danny Trejo.

DirecTV Now's added support for network TVE apps expands a growing list that also includes ABC, BTN2GO, Bravo Now, CMT, CNBC, Comcast regional sports networks, Comedy Central, E! Now, WatchESPN, Fox Now, Fox Sports Go, HBO Go and Max Go, NBC, Nick and Nick Jr., Syfy Now, and USA Now, among others.

DirecTV Now, launched in November 2016, added about 200,000 subscribers in its first month of service, but AT&T did not break out customer numbers for the OTT service when it posted Q1 2017 numbers. Bloomberg reported that DirecTV Now's sub base sped past the 328,000 mark by the end of January, but followed with 3,000 sub losses in February and flat growth in March.

AT&T Kicks Off DirecTV Now Ad Campaign

Digital-only campaign features mix of 30-, 15-second spots featuring Michael B. Jordan

JEFF BAUMGARTNER · JUL 24, 2017

Looking to drive awareness for its OTT TV service, AT&T has kicked off a national ad campaign for DirecTV Now that stars Michael B. Jordan (Black Panther, Creed, Friday Night Lights).

The ads, created by BBDO, emphasize certain features of the OTT service, including that it does not require contracts or a traditional set-top box, and can be viewed in the home or on the go.

AT&T, which launched its first national DirecTV Now ad (with Mark Wahlberg) earlier this year, said the new digital-only campaign will initially be distributed on social media, with an iHeart Media integration planned to start next week. AT&T, an official noted, launched the new ad campaign on primarily digital platforms that's one of the key ways consumers discover and use the product.

"We want TV without all that old TV stuff," Jordan explains in a 30-second spot called Free. "We want live TV that's annual contract free, hardware free, commitment free, even couch-free...walls-free...pants free. Just completely free to be a... a..."

In another, called Cable B. Ware, Jordan lights a fuse in the form of a cable attached to an old set-top box with an explosive ending.
